

Robinson Family VINEYARDS

SPRING 2023

Hi everyone,

Well, 2023 has started with a (wet) bang for us here in the Napa Valley: lots and lots and lots of rain (14 atmospheric rivers, so far) and we even got some snow in our foothills above the winery! Rain or not, things are humming along here at Robinson Family Vineyards.

IN THE VINEYARD & AROUND THE RANCH

The vineyard is pruned and awaiting sunshine, but the rain gave the vineyard guys time to tighten vine wires, install new end posts and do some needed repairs to the trellis system so they will be able to tie the canes to the wires when the time comes. In the meantime, the mustard and other cover crops are putting on a beautiful show, and our cows have been enjoying grazing the offerings among the vines.

Elsewhere on the property, we had to do redo our chicken coop after a grey fox got in and killed most of them. Coop 2.0 is a major fortress, and we have new chickens. We no longer know which is more expensive: eggs or new wire panels.

IN THE CELLAR

We're happy with the increase in production of Malbec and Petit Verdot with the 2022 vintage (currently in barrel), thanks to the newer vines coming into production.

On March 15, we bottled our 2022 Sauvignon Blanc, Rosé of Cabernet Sauvignon and Rosé of Merlot. These wines will be released after a few months of bottle aging, just in time for summer enjoyment. We also recently tasted through the red wines from the 2021 vintage with winemaker Kristof and they are coming along nicely. We'll bottle them in the middle of August—just in time to make room for the 2023 harvest!
