

Robinson Family VINEYARDS

SPRING 2026

Hi everyone,

As I write this, we're enjoying a stretch of warm sunny days here in Napa Valley. We had quite a bit of rain earlier this winter so now the mustard is in full bloom and the sun shining on it makes the vineyards glow bright yellow. And if you look closely at the vines, you can see that the buds are starting to swell, proof that spring has sprung.

In the cellar:

The Robinson Family Vineyards 2022 red wines are officially released, and we couldn't be more pleased with how the wine is showing. As winemaker Jeff Owens noted: "The 2022 Napa Valley vintage delivered beautifully concentrated wines marked by ripe flavors, vibrant color, and impressive early approachability. A warm, consistent growing season produced small berries with excellent intensity, while careful harvest decisions captured freshness and balance. The resulting wines are rich, expressive, and charming now, yet structured enough to reward cellaring, making 2022 an exciting, consumer-friendly vintage."

Now we're busy putting together the 2024 blends, which show a ton of promise with vibrant aromas, bold fruit, layered richness and solid structure, offering classic Napa power while maintaining incredible freshness.

Around the ranch:

After working the winegrape harvest for several years, our grandson Trace put that experience to working helping Tom with a different kind of harvest: olives for our first-ever estate-grown olive oil. And we welcome our newest ranch hand, Cosmo, shown here with Marsey.

Elsewhere:

Winter is the best time for us to catch up with others. Winemaker Jeff Owens and his wife, Val, joined us at the Napa Valley Vintners' annual lunch, where we enjoyed reconnecting and swapping stories with fellow winemakers and winery owners after a busy fall. Then Tom and I flew to Florida to participate in the Artisans of Wine & Food at The Boca Raton. They really know how to do an event: the wine, the food, the people and the beautiful venue make this a trip we look forward to each year.

But as much as we love traveling, there really is no place like home. Hope you'll visit us here soon!
